Dear Mr Mallard

I noticed with interest your advertisement for a programmer on your website. I believe that my enclosed CV will demonstrate that I have the experiences you seek.

I recently graduated from Charles University in Prague with a degree in Information and Communication Technologies. I have always had a strong interest in computers. My high degree of motivation has been appreciated by my previous employers. I am very competent in program coding and improving new programs.

I am confident that I can perform the job effectively, and I am excited about the idea of working for your firm. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Marián Opiela
